

What if EVERY teacher could meet the needs of multilingual learners?

Introducing the new Ellevation Strategies - a comprehensive professional learning solution that equips educators to effectively teach English Learners in any class.

Educators in over 45 states have used the instructional activities in Ellevation Strategies to reach and engage multilingual learners. With the addition of professional learning modules, the program now provides even more comprehensive support using a Learn-Teach-Reflect model.

The new, hour-long modules meet ESSA Professional Development standards, and help teachers put their new knowledge into classroom practice, better apply student data in practical and meaningful ways, access supporting instructional activities, and reflect on the work.

Also, if you have a dedicated Dual Language program, need Spanish transadaptations, or want to elevate cultural competency in your district, we have resources - and modules - to meet those needs built right into the program.

Leverage ESSER/CARES, Title II, III and other funds for purchase.

"Ellevation has markedly improved my work life! It is the first product that I have encountered that is truly designed for ELs and those who work with ELs."

How can Ellevation Strategies support your professional learning program?

Build expertise in serving multilingual learners.

Hour-long, online professional learning modules cover a range of topics specific to student subgroups and related to relevant language practices.

Use student data to differentiate instruction.

Unlike other professional development programs, Ellevation Strategies provides educators with data specific to their students. Easy-to-understand dashboards and descriptors guide educators to understand data and better differentiate instruction.

Provide best-practice teaching activities.

Our instructional activities offer everything an educator needs: clear instructions, downloadable resources, support suggestions, demonstration videos, and more.

Scale resources in a flexible, on-going, and cost-effective way.

Modules can be completed independently or collaboratively in existing structures like PLCs. Districts can easily integrate them into their professional development calendar and prepare teachers wherever and whenever needed.

Track progress, provide follow-up support and certificates.

With Ellevation Strategies, district and school leaders can easily track educators' progress and responses making it easier to design support.
